If you look back at the weddings you've attended, what you generally remember is not the centerpieces, or the flowers, or even the dress. Chances are, what you remember is the emotion. The maid of honor who started crying during her reading, that bride who just couldn't stop grinning as she said her vows. Two people, who seem so perfect for each other, making huge promises- that's what the wedding ceremony is about. The Kirana Ungasan present you the beautiful place to celebrate your special Wedding Occasion for an intimate ceremony with tropical greenery on the grass terrace.
